To whom it may concern:

Dakem and Associates completed the buildout of our new cardiology office from August to December, 2009.

We are more than pleased with the results.

I was very confident in Dakem throughout every phase of the project. We reviewed a number of bids on the project. Dakem, while not the lowest, was very competitive. We ultimately chose them due to their experience with medical facilities and a proven track record in delivering the projects on time.

They were sensitive to our concerns regarding cost containment. They made several excellent suggestions regarding "value engineering" which proved to save money without sacrificing the quality of the final product.

Their staff worked very hard throughout the building phase to complete the work on schedule. When the expected glitches arose, they were very effective in communicating the problems and coming up with appropriate solutions.

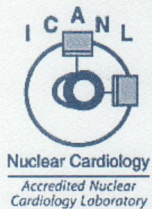

Following completion of the project, they remain engaged in addressing a few minor issues which remain.

I would not hesitate to recommend Dakem for your construction project. Feel free to call me with any questions.

Sincerely,
